A PLAYLIST FOR YOUR WEEK

FROM YOUR MUSIC TEAM

Click the guitar image to be taken to the playlist.

I was a little stuck for this week's playlist so I reached out to my family and asked them to give me a spiritual song that brings back fond memories or inspires them, especially these days. Here are the songs we have to share with you.

"Hallelujah" my brother suggested this one. This version by Jamie Brown-Hart & Canadian Virtual Choir brought me to tears when I played it for the first time. This song has always given me inspiration. Especially when I tried to read the Biblical text that inspired the words to this song. That was quite the bible study.

"Imagine", my Mothers favorite song. I chose the Pentatonix version as I love the video and how they focus on all of us as humans, wanting peace and love and walking together on a journey for all of mankind.

"Exhale", this came on while I was working last week and the words just spoke to me. Who does not need to just look to Heaven and exhale and let Him breathe over you. Ah! I think this one could get added to the Praise & Worship catalogue, what do you think Pete?

"Nearer, My God, to Thee", thank you to my Father for this suggestion. This will lift you up, 800 musicians from 55 countries coming together in August 2020 to produce this video. Amazing and such a beautiful piece of music, reminding us to walk more closely with God and be in His presence.

"Lord of the Dance" this is for my sisters. There are many versions out there but this version performed by an extended family made me think of my family. We love to play and sing together whenever we can.

"The Lord is my Shepherd" this is for my sister-in-law, she is Australian, so I chose a version performed by an Australian choir. This hymn that brings back memories for both of us. So, from our family to yours, enjoy!
